22/07/2020

Church-state dialogue to begin anew in Greece

A new round of Church-state dialogue begins in Greece in the coming period, with the relevant education and religious minister, Niki Kerameos, issuing invitations.

Topics up for discussion, according to reports, include religious studies in the public education sector, commercially exploiting Church properties, and the legal status of cemeteries, among others.