18/02/2019

Changes in school text books after the Prespa agreement

In his interview to the Athens News Agency, Mr Gavroglu referred to changes in school text books, in the wake of the recent ratification of the Prespa agreement. He stressed that changes deal with historical, archaeological and education issues, ones he said are "under the prism of irredentist references, but also issues dealing with scholarly mistakes, something cited in the agreement."