AHEPA Family Helps Inaugurate Greek Language Laboratory at Ohio State University

The AHEPA Family was honored to take part in the Inauguration of the Laboratory for the Study of Greek Language and the Establishment of the Brian D. Joseph Fund for Greek Dialectology at the Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio on April 25th.

Supreme President Tsivicos joined BOT Member and Past Supreme President Carl Hollister, as well as Sons of Pericles Supreme President Alec Economakis, Maids of Athena Grand President Ally Tsenekos, AHEPA District 11 Governor Steve Papakirk and District 11 Secretary Jim Papakirk at this phenomenal event.

The AHEPA has been instrumental in establishing the University’s Modern Greek Studies program and is proud to continue its support for this new endowment for the study of the Greek Language.
