The celebration of Holy Pascha in Kentish Town

In a jubilant atmosphere, His Eminence Archbishop Nikitas of Thyateira and Great Britain presided over the Service of the Resurrection and celebrated the Paschal Divine Liturgy at the Church of St Andrew in Kentish Town, London. His Eminence was accompanied by the V. Revd Archimandrite Chrysostomos Michaelides and the Revd Oeconomos Father Kristian Akselberg, who is the Priest-in-Charge. The service was further graced by the presence of the Revd Archdeacon George Tsourous, along with Revd Deacons Dimitrios Mamouchas and Georgios Ntallas, who also served during the service.

This venerable celebration marked the climax of Holy Week, convening the people of God to participate in the triumphant proclamation of Christ’s Resurrection. As the clock neared midnight, His Eminence, bearing the Holy Light, intoned the joyous declaration, “Christ is Risen,” filling the hearts of all present with reverence and jubilation. The “Feast of Feasts,” was attended by dignitaries including the Consul of the Hellenic Republic, His Excellency Christos Goulas, among other esteemed guests.
