

Romanian Church summit

A conference summit organized by the Romanian Orthodox Church this week is entitled “Missionaries’ prayers in a secular society,” where delegates broached the role and challenges faced by a pastor in contemporary society.

The Romanian Orthodox Metropolitan for central and northern Europe, His Eminence Seraphim, explained that it was necessary for clerics to actively involve the faithful in Church life.