

09/09/2019

Noted Greek performer, musician Maheritsas unexpectedly passes away

Noted Greek performer and musician Lavrentis Maheritsas died on Monday morning, hours after suffering a massive heart attack at his country home near the central city of Volos.

He was 63.

In a recent interview, when asked about his relationship with religion, he noted that “...I am religious. I believe in God, the father, the omnipotent. I believe that this life is not the only thing that exists, because if only the material form exists, then this would be a great absurdity... “