

Διαβάστε διαδικτυακά τον Orthodox Observer της Αρχιεπισκοπής Αμερικής

Οικουμενικό Πατριαρχείο / Αρχιεπισκοπή Αμερικής

Η Έκδοση Σεπτεμβρίου - Οκτωβρίου 2019 του Orthodox Observer της Ιεράς Αρχιεπισκοπής Αμερικής είναι διαθέσιμη διαδικτυακά και μπορείτε να τη διαβάσετε ΕΔΩ

Patriarch's Climate Message to UN Secretary-General

His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, has addressed the United Nations Secretary-General, António Guterres, on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the United Nations. The Patriarch's message, titled "Climate Change: A Global Challenge for All," was delivered on September 21, 2020, during a virtual meeting with the Secretary-General. The Patriarch expressed his deep concern over the climate crisis and urged the international community to take urgent action to address the challenges posed by climate change.

The Patriarch emphasized that climate change is not just an environmental issue, but a global crisis that affects all of humanity. He called for a collective effort to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and to protect the planet for future generations. He also stressed the importance of social justice and the need to ensure that the most vulnerable populations are protected from the impacts of climate change.

Ecumenical Patriarch Receives Teachers, Students from Ukrainian Theological Schools

His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, received a delegation of teachers and students from the Ukrainian Theological Schools in Istanbul. The delegation, led by the Rector of the schools, met with the Patriarch on September 18, 2020, at the Patriarchal Palace. The Patriarch welcomed the delegation and expressed his appreciation for their commitment to theological education and the promotion of ecumenical dialogue.

The Patriarch also discussed the challenges faced by the Ukrainian Church and the role of the theological schools in addressing these challenges. He encouraged the students to continue their studies and to work for the unity and peace of the Christian Church.

The Patriarch's reception of the delegation was a significant event, highlighting the importance of theological education and the role of the Church in promoting peace and unity. The Patriarch's message to the UN Secretary-General also underscored the global nature of the climate crisis and the need for international cooperation to address it.

The Patriarch's reception of the delegation was a significant event, highlighting the importance of theological education and the role of the Church in promoting peace and unity. The Patriarch's message to the UN Secretary-General also underscored the global nature of the climate crisis and the need for international cooperation to address it.

Ecumenical Patriarch: 'Every Place Has One Bishop'

His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, has issued a statement titled "Every Place Has One Bishop." The statement, dated September 15, 2020, expresses the Patriarch's concern over the current situation in the Middle East and the need for peace and dialogue. He emphasized that every place has one bishop, and that the Church must work for the unity and peace of the Christian Church.

His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, with a group of people.

Commerce Secretary Ross Visits Ecumenical Patriarch

U.S. Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross visited His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, on September 10, 2020. The visit was part of a series of meetings between the Secretary and various religious leaders. The Patriarch welcomed the Secretary and expressed his appreciation for the U.S. government's commitment to religious freedom and the promotion of peace and dialogue.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross visiting His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I.

Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew's Statement on the Global Wifelines

His Beatitude the Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, Bartholomew I, has issued a statement titled "Global Wifelines." The statement, dated September 12, 2020, expresses the Patriarch's concern over the current situation in the Middle East and the need for peace and dialogue. He emphasized that every place has one bishop, and that the Church must work for the unity and peace of the Christian Church.

The Patriarch's statement is a call to action for the international community to work for the unity and peace of the Christian Church. He emphasized that every place has one bishop, and that the Church must work for the unity and peace of the Christian Church.