President on pardoning of convicted Archpriest: You will hear everything about this issue when neccessary

You will hear everything about this issue when neccessary, – President of Georgia Salome Zourabichvili answered journalists' question about pardoning Archpriest Giorgi Mamaladze.

A meeting of the Holy Synod was held at the Patriarchate on October 31, where a decision was made to mediate with the President on the release of Archpriest Giorgi Mamaladze.

The Administration of the President of Georgia says they have not resumed consideration of pardon cases. The Administration denied reports, according to which the President may pardon the convicted Archpriest on November 23.
