A text of recognition was read out by the Metropolitan of Guinea, His Eminence Georgios.

While officiating at the Patriarchal Divine Liturgy, His Most Divine Beatitude Theodoros noted that "...Today, the biggest Arab-speaking Greek Orthodox parish of the Patriarchate of Alexandria is celebrating the Great Archangels in Cairo's El Daher district, and I feel a great sense of gratitude for their love and devotion to the Patriarchate of Alexandria... The Archangels are a symbol of protection of man, as every human being that comes into the world is accompanied by a guardian angel before they bear witness to Christ.”
