Ilia II of Georgia - We lack peace as we are confused in modern life

“Calmness is the state when the Holy Spirit comes upon a person. Peacefulness is necessary for us,” Catholicos-Patriarch of All Georgia Ilia II said at Sunday sermon earlier today.

“Peacefulness is necessary for us. We lack peace because we are confused in modern life.

We take a lot into our own hands, we have high hopes for science, culture, modern achievements. We must remember that everything is in God’s hands.

The speed that is in the world today in science, culture, etc, indicates that the Lord is close to us,” Ilia II of Georgia said.
