Târgoviște Archdiocese donates vital sign measuring device to county hospital

The Orthodox Archdiocese of Târgoviște Thursday announced that it has purchased a vital sign measuring device that will be donated to the County Emergency Hospital.

Fukuda Denshi's latest patient monitor DS-8100N cost about 4,343 Euros and will serve the coronavirus patients in Targoviste.

The archdiocese's statement notes that the action "contributes to the national and global effort to eradicate the COVID-19 pandemic through numerous activities, efforts and projects."
