Let us keep the chain of prayer unbroken amidst this difficult period for humanity

Let us not forget to observe the guidelines and precautions issued by public health authorities; we remain at home, with our loved ones, but also close to our fellow man, helping and assisting in any way we can, especially those in at-risk groups.
With the grace of God, we will emerge from this tribulation stronger.

We unite our prayers every evening in the first quarter after 10.

On the pages of the Orthodoxia news agency, you'll find an online request form stating which time is best for you and your family to pray, as well as for sending us your ideas and comments to ensure uninterrupted prayer, whereby this chain of supplication is unbroken.
