

Churches reopen in Lebanon

Christians in Lebanon returned to cathedrals and chapels for worship after two months, as the government moved towards a gradual easing of coronavirus restrictions. Public health precautions, such as social distancing, are still in place, however.