

21/05/2020

Archbishop of Athens officiates at a con-celebratory Vespers at Sts. Constantine & Helen Cathedral in Omonia - (PHOTOS + VIDEOS)

The Archbishop of Athens and All Greece, His Beatitude Ieronymos, officiated at a con-celebratory Vespers service at the Sts. Constantine and Helen Cathedral in the downtown Athens, on the occasion of the Great feast day.

The service was conducted in strict adherence with all public health precautions and guidelines, in order to prevent exposure to the coronavirus.

Photos - Videos: George Ferdis

<https://www.orthodoxianewsagency.gr/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/video-1589991563.mp4>

<https://www.orthodoxianewsagency.gr/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/video-1589991590.mp4>

<https://www.orthodoxianewsagency.gr/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/video-1589991574.mp4>

<https://www.orthodoxianewsagency.gr/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/video-1589991581.mp4>

In a related development, the Patriarch of Alexandria and All Africa, His Divine Beatitude Theodoros II, officiated at a con-celebratory Vespers on Wednesday at the historic Sts. Constantine & Helen Greek Orthodox Cathedral in Cairo , the “jewel” of Orthodoxy in the ancient land.

The service was the first feast day celebration for the cathedral since its restoration and re-dedication last September.

