

Archbishop of Athens' message against drug use

Archbishop of Athens and All Greece, His Beatitude Ieronymos, issued a message for Friday's world day against narcotics, extending a Christian message of hope for those, as he said, courageously walking down a path of detoxification, as well as to their families; a message of faith in the Resurrected Christ to bring light to the deepest darkness.