Church of Greece, relevant ministry sign MoU on construction of metropolitan ecclesiastical museum, restoration of historic building

The Archbishop of Athens and All Greece, His Beatitude Ieronymos, on Thursday signed a memorandum of understanding, on behalf of the Church, with the country's infrastructure and transports ministry.

The memorandum foresees the study and construction of an metropolitan ecclesiastical museum, the restoration of a historic building in central Athens that once housed the Holy Synod of the Church of Greece, along with works on the St. Andrew Chapel next to the Archdiocese.
