

Restoration of scores of religious monuments in Russia under 2-billion-ruble program

An ambitious 400-million-ruble plan to restore more than 10 cathedrals in the greater Moscow area continues.

The overall plan, begun in 2012, calls for a restoration and preservation of 62 religious monuments , with a budget of two billion rubles.

The program is showcased in a recent Russian-language edition entitled “Orthodox Moscow in the 21st Century”.