The Christ and Anastasia Economos Orthodoxy in America Lecture

The Christ and Anastasia Economos Orthodoxy in America Lecture presented by His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America

The Christ and Anastasia Economos Orthodoxy in America Lecture hosted by the Orthodox Christian Studies Center, Fordham University is the largest annual lecture of its kind and the only one housed within a university setting. In addition, the annual lecture series is the only one to explore the Orthodox tradition as it intersects with the American religious experience. And since it is housed within a Roman Catholic institution, the lecture series provides an unparalleled opportunity for an advanced ecumenical conversation about the common issues facing the Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic traditions.

Monday's upcoming lecture, "The Future of Orthodox-Catholic Relations in the USA" will be presented by His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America

Date: September 21, 2020 | 6 p.m. | Virtual event – Lecture will be streamed online
