

08/10/2020

Patriarch of Russia in quarantine, as a precaution, after contact with coronavirus case

The Patriarch of Moscow and All Russia, His Holiness Kirill, remained in quarantine on Wednesday, after coming into a contact a confirmed Covid-19 infection, a spokesman for the Moscow Patriarchate announced.

The latter added that His Holiness is well in his health and continues to work regularly.