WABC Radio To Air Live With The Louhs

New York – The Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America announces the Rev. Dr. Nicholas Louh and his wife, Dr. Roxanne Louh, as the hosts of a new radio program of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese on 77WABC Talk Radio. The program, Live with the Louhs will broadcast each week beginning Sunday, October 18, 2020 at 6:00am ET in the NY Metro area. (All programs can be found archived at https://wabcradio.com/show/live-with-the-louhs/).

The program is part of an effort by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese to have a better presence in national media.

The mission of the program is to discuss contemporary, relevant matters as well as every day issues, with the goal of providing the listeners with life-giving principles to help them in their walk of faith. Fr. Nicholas and Dr. Roxanne will utilize their ministries as a priest and as a psychologist to talk about topic ranging from stress and fear to how to strengthen our marriages and our relationships. In addition, Fr. Nicholas and Dr. Roxanne will interview special guests and leaders in of various fields including John Catsimatidis, Fr. Alexander Karloutsos, Tim Tassopoulos and others.

This week’s program on October 18, 2020 features an interview Robert Krantz, director, actor and producer of the movie, FAITH, HOPE and LOVE discussing how he manages to keep his faith present, in an industry that is facing an alarming decline in moral grounding, faith and direction.

Fr. Nicholas, a Greek Orthodox priest, and Roxanne, an experienced psychologist, are the founders of Healthy Minds Healthy Souls. Their mission as a couple is to merge their disciplines of faith and psychology to make your walk of faith a practical one. They have established a well-known podcast and recently published their first book together, Renewing You: a Priest, a Psychologist, and a Plan.
