

23/11/2020

Archbishop of Albania Anastasios released from Athens hospital; to remain in-house for Covid-19 quarantine

The Archbishop of Tirana, Durrës and All Albania, His Beatitude Anastasios, on Monday was released from the Evangelismos Hospital in central Athens after 12 days of treatment. His Beatitude had been infected with the Covid-19 virus. He will remain in an in-house quarantine.

Positive news was also reported regarding the health of Archbishop of Athens and All Greece, His Beatitude Ieronymos, who remains hospitalized in the same facility for a fifth straight day, after also testing positive for Covid-19.