

First group of new members of cabinet sworn in on Tuesday at 11:00 by Archbishop Ieronymos of Athens and All Greece

The first six of the new ministers and deputy ministers joining the government or switching portfolios were sworn in by Archbishop Ieronymos of Athens and All Greece at the presidential mansion on Tuesday at 11:00, in the presence of the President of the Hellenic Republic Katerina Sakellariopoulou and Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis. The new members of cabinet have been split up into three groups as a measure to protect against the spread of Covid-19.

The first group included Kostis Hatzidakis, the new labour minister, Kostas Skrekas who is taking over the environment ministry, Makis Voridis who will lead the interior ministry, Spilios Livanos who is the new rural development minister, Vassilis Kontozamanis who has become alternate health minister and Stelios Petsas, who is now alternate interior minister.

The next two groups will be sworn in at 11:45 and 12:30, respectively.
