

Serbian Orthodox Church mobilizes to provide assistance to quake-stricken in central Croatia

The Serbian Orthodox Church has immediately mobilized to offer assistance to quake-stricken residents in Croatia. A strong 6.4 on the Richter scale earthquake devastated the Petrinja district of central Croatia on Dec. 29, resulting in seven deaths and major damages.

The first 12 of 30 mobile homes have been delivered to residents who were left homeless from the tremor, while 10 containers of relief assistance have already been collected and delivered by the Serbian Orthodox Church.
