

Romanian Orthodox Church: Vaccination a right, not an obligation

The Patriarchate of Romania has sent an information bulletin to all metropolises and bishoprics in the country, to brief them over a Covid-19 vaccination campaign in the country.

The aim of the bulletin is to brief the faithful over the details of the campaign and to present expert advice regarding vaccinations, thereby allowing individuals to make a knowledgeable decision on whether or not to get the Covid-19 vaccination.

The Church underlined that the act of vaccination is voluntary, made of free will and safe, along with the fact that it is a right, not an obligation.
