

Archdiocese of Thyateira and Great Britain engages in pandemic relief

The Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of Thyateira and Great Britain, which is led by Archbishop Nikitas, distributed hundreds of non-perishable food item parcels to those in need during the pandemic. In addition, special parcels containing fruits, vegetables, eggs, and dairy products were also delivered. Numerous packages containing over-the-counter medicines, hygienic supplies, and nappies were delivered to families requesting aid.

Additionally, grants were given to student associations and to largest community school. Households requesting financial assistance with utilities, emergency expenses, and funeral costs also experienced the loving support of their sisters and brothers in Christ.

In this unprecedented pandemic, hundreds of people receive consolation and encouragement from the Church as they face the loss of relatives, friends, and neighbors as well as endure difficult financial situations. The outpouring of Christian love and charity, that is, the carrying of one another's burdens, is indeed, the most needed medicine which heals the wounds of soul and body.

The Archdiocese declared, "we are proud to witness the solidarity demonstrated by our Christ-loving clergy and faithful, who, without hesitation invested their gifts 'in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys, and where thieves do not break in or steal,' nourishing and helping the 'least of His people,' in other words, those in unbearable circumstances and in unrepresented situations."

The Archdiocese also expressed "warm thanks to all those who have generously responded to its invitation to charity, and applaud those who through prayer and mercy continue to be beacons of Christian love and solidarity in the troubled world." The chancery said in a statement that "it is a beautiful circumstance to witness our parishes mobilizing hands of mercy and commanding action teams to assemble parcels, to pray, and to deliver them to those who need them most. We thank God for this opportunity to serve those in difficulty as Christ commanded us. The struggle is not over, but together with faith, prayer, and sacrificial love for the other we can overcome this great challenge of our day."
