

Archbishop Elpidophoros of America has arrived in Denver for his first Pastoral visit to the Holy Metropolis

His Eminence, Archbishop Elpidophoros, Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of America and Representative of the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople, is making his first pastoral trip to the Metropolis of Denver this weekend.

He was welcomed to the Metropolis Center by His Eminence Metropolitan Isaiah, Rev. Protopresbyter Lou Christopoulos, Chancellor of the Metropolis as well as Staff and faithful. The Archbishop will stay throughout the weekend and his visit will culminate with the Divine Liturgy in the Metropolitan Cathedral on Sunday.

During this historic visit, the Archbishop will meet with His Eminence, Metropolitan Isaiah of Denver, local clergy and lay leaders. He will be presiding over Great Vespers on Saturday evening and the Hierarchical Divine Liturgy on Sunday morning at local Greek Orthodox Churches.

All events are being held adhering to strict COVID-19 guidelines and restrictions.

Please view using the Live Stream links:

Saturday Evening Great Vespers:

<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCdnBDf1rKZ5ewXLy4iXWsdw/videos?view=2>

Sunday Hierarchical Divine Liturgy:

<https://www.youtube.com/user/TheotokosDenver>

Archbishop Elpidophoros of America is the head of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America which includes over 550 parishes nationwide. He was elevated to his present position in 2019 as the official representative of the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople overseeing all Greek Orthodox parishes in America.

“On behalf of the clergy and parishioners of the 50 parishes of the Greek Orthodox Metropolis of Denver, which spans over a 12 state region, I warmly welcome our Spiritual Leader, His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America on this, his first official visit to this region of the Archdiocese. May God grant him many Years!” His Eminence, Metropolitan Isaiah of Denver said.

