For the Life of the World: Towards a Social Ethos of the Orthodox Church

For the Life of the World: Towards a Social Ethos of the Orthodox Church is a powerful social document enriched by scriptural, patristic, theological, and spiritual references, to navigate through these often perplexing and difficult times, as Orthodox Christians, in a post-modern world.

Every week during Lent, the Department will post one question for reflection taken from the study guide recently released.

Check their Facebook every Thursday for each week's question!
