New Metropolis Center in Metropolis of Chicago Update

The Metropolis of Chicago has issued an update on its efforts to sell the Burton Place Property and its plan to secure a new Metropolis Center.

As we make headway in the sale of the Burton Place Property and in identifying a prospective future site for our Metropolis Center, the Metropolis will present to the faithful a more concrete vision for the future. In the spirit of full transparency and accountability, the Metropolis pledges to continue listening to and learning from the community; to walk with and guide the faithful; and to decisively and prayerfully take all steps needed for securing a more vibrant future for our Metropolis family.
