Serbian Church again points to provocation by Kosovo Albanians against Orthodox faithful

The Serbian Orthodox Church's Eparchy of Raska and Prizren, which is located in the Kosovo and Metohija province, this week again pointed to yet more provocations by the Kosovo Albanian authorities against Orthodox faithful.

The Orthodox Church in the strife-plagued province again charged that Kosovo Albanians are violating every concept of religious freedom and the fundamental provisions that the Pristina government has promised to fulfill.

The latest provocation involves Kosovo Albanian police preventing ethnic Serbs of Kosovo from visiting Christian cemeteries where their relatives are interred, on the occasion of the Sunday of the Pentecost.
