Archbishop of Albania Anastasios: ‘we have a host of millions of saints who support, inspire us

The Archbishop of Tirana, Durres and All Albania, His Beatitude Anastasios, speaking during a sermon on the Sunday of All Saints at the Cathedral of the Resurrection in the Albanian capital, told the congregation that we are not alone in the Church, “…we have a host of millions of saints who support, and inspire us.”
The Archbishop first officiated at the Divine Liturgy.
