Changes in school books due to Prespa agreement

The Skopje-based state-run MIA news agency on Saturday reported that a top diplomat, Amb. Viktor Gaber , tolds participants at a joint meeting – held to consider changes in text books – that the issue of deciding on an exact definition of “irredentism” will be on the agenda of the next session.

One of the clauses of the controversial bilateral agreement – which has international applications – also affects textbooks in Greek schools.
