Man of God’ continues to set box office records in Greece, Cyprus

The film “Man of God”, based on the life and works of 20th century St. Nektarios of Aegina, continues to set box office records in Greece and Cyprus, where it debuted in movie theaters on Aug. 26.

The international production, written and directed by Yelena Popovic, has sold more than 270,000 tickets in both countries so far and has remained in first place among all showings for four straight weeks. The devotional motion picture will debut in other countries next month.

Actresses Marthilia Svarna and Corina-Anna Youyouli spoke to Greek television this week about their roles, as devoted nuns, in the movie.
