03/11/2021

Increased Covid-19 restrictions in Greece for those not vaccinated exclude Church-goers

More restrictions were announced in Greece this week for people that are not vaccinated for the Covid-19 virus, namely, the mandatory presentation of two negative rapid or PCR tests per week by employees in all sectors, including by clergymen, deacons, chanters and sextons.

Worshippers are excluded from the measure, although all social distancing and public health measures remain in place.