Archbishop of Albania Anastasios: Orthodox Christians have ways to face every type of illness

The Archbishop of Durres, Tirana and All Albania, His Beatitude Anastasios, during a brief sermon after the Divine Liturgy at Cathedral of the Resurrection in the Albanian capital, emphasized to congregants that “…illnesses are not something unusual, but a fact of life”.

On the occasion of the Gospel reading, His Beatitude added that Orthodox Christians have a way in which to face every type of illness.
