Metropolitan of Piraeus Seraphim: ‘Those who oppose vaccination are people who have no relation whatsoever with Christ’

The Metropolitan of Piraeus, His Eminence Seraphim, this week gave a high-profile television interview, where he referred to the issue of vaccinations for the Covid-19 virus and the strict adherence to public health measures within places of worship. His Eminence underlined that “…all those who oppose vaccination are people who have no relation whatsoever with Christ, nor with the Church.”
