Three years of fruitful operation by Orthodoxia news agency

The Orthodoxia news agency today marks its third year of operation – three years of continuous and unwavering efforts to bring you reliable and timely developments and information from every corner of the Orthodox world, with an emphasis on news-gathering and journalistic missions, all while showcasing the pastoral and missionary work of Mother Church, along with its spiritual and cultural impact on contemporary society.

All of the staff and associates of the Orthodoxia news agency strive to offer the highest quality content and information on a 24-hour basis.

We'd like to thank you for your support and confidence amid the difficult times faced by the Orthodox world, and the world in general.
