

French association calls for ancient Greek's inclusion in UNESCO list of world heritage

The French association Human-Hist called for the inclusion of ancient Greek in UNESCO's world heritage list, during sessions of the second international conference of ancient languages, which took place over the weekend in the French city of Autun.