

Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew officiates at Divine Liturgy at remote chapel on Imvros

The Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, His All Holiness Bartholomew I, officiated at a Divine Liturgy on Wednesday on the occasion of the great feast day of the Presentation of the Lord & Savior in the Temple, at a remote chapel dedicated to the Theotokos, the Virgin Mary – located at the Kokkina site on the northeast Aegean island of Imvros.

His All Holiness arrived on the island, his birthplace, last Sunday, where he again underlined his great joy upon returning to his native land.
