Cretan Association of NSW holds annual Agiasmo and vasilopita event

The Cretan Association of Sydney and NSW held its annual Agiasmo and Cutting of the Vasilopita event at Ashbury Senior Citizen's Centre on Friday, February 4.

Due to COVID-19 lockdowns and restrictions, the event was the first time the members and dancing groups of the Cretan Association were able to gather together in eight months. Over 80 people were present on the night.

President of the Association, Terry Saviolakis, welcomed the members and dancing groups present on behalf of the Executive Committee, and expressed his joy in seeing everyone again.

"We hope that 2022 is a much better and more positive year for our dancing groups, our Association and of course Australia, Greece and the whole world with the COVID-19 pandemic," Mr Saviolakis said.

“Children, I wish that you all progress with your lessons and receive blessings from above as you start your new year. I would like to congratulate all those who participate in the Cretan Association. May God send peace, love and blessings to
