Veneration of memory of Photios, Patriarch of Constantinople, patron saint of Church of Greece’s Holy Synod

Members of the Church of Greece’s Holy Synod will convene this week for three days, until Wednesday, for their regular assembly during the month of February. According to a communique by the Holy Synod, administrative issues will be on the agenda.

In a related development, the patron saint of the Holy Synod of the Church of Greece, St. Photios, Patriarch of Constantinople, was celebrated over the weekend with a Vespers, Orthros and Divine Liturgy at the Holy Monastery of Petraki, due north of Athens, following a synodal decision. The Metropolitan of Thaumakos His Grace Iakovos, the Abbot of the Monastery, officiated at the services.
