Sunday Sermon Series: Sunday of the Prodigal Son, Feb. 20

This week’s Sunday Sermon from the Department of Religious Education provides insight from the upcoming Gospel reading where Apostle Luke talks about the Prodigal Son who squandered his father’s inheritance on reckless living. When he returned to his father’s home, his father ran to him and went as far as throwing him a feast. Who does the prodigal son, the father, and his house represent? And what does the famous Lenten prayer of St. Ephraim have to do with the righteous elder son? To find out, read this sermon by clicking here.
