2-day seminar by Univ. of Athens school of theology entitled ‘The Status of Women: Christian Tradition & Contemporary Reality’

On the occasion of today’s International Women’s Day (IWD), which is annually commemorated on March 8, Athens University’s school of theology will organize a special two-day seminar on Friday and Saturday, entitled “The Status of Women: Christian Tradition and Contemporary Reality”, an event that comes amid increasing instances of violence against women around the world during the pandemic.
