Christians in Africa continue to express their faith and convictions in one of the most difficult areas in the world for believers.

In parts of Africa, priests, missionaries and laymen continue to hold baptisms, often in secret, at lakes and rivers, while maintaining various types of charity works.

For instance, the Metropolitan of Kenya, His Eminence Makarios, heads one of the most dynamic Orthodox Churches in sub-Saharan Africa.

A video posted today on the Orthodoxia News Agency's webpages shows the children of the St. Irene orphanage singing hymns in three languages: Swahili, Greek and English.
