Archbishop of Australia Makarios attends dedication service for graduates of St Andrew's Theological College

The Archbishop of Australia, His Eminence Makarios, earlier this week was present at a dedication service for graduates of the St Andrew's Theological College. The service was celebrated at the Cathedral of the Annunciation in Redfern.
In an address to graduating students and members of the congregation, His Eminence gave thanks to God for the work of the college.

He added: "...We are celebrating ...an important milestone for our graduating students. We are honoring, today, their outstanding accomplishments upon the successful completion of their theological studies."
