The Ecumenical Patriarch at the Holy Monastery of the Dormition of the Theotokos in Thassos

A street in Limenaria Thassos was named in honour of His All-Holiness, Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew

On the afternoon of Sunday, September 4, Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew and Metropolitan Epiphanius of Kiev and all Ukraine Epiphanius, together with the bishops and the clergy, made a pilgrimage to the Dormition of the Theotokos Monastery on the island of Thassos.

Metropolitan Stefanos of Philippi, Neapolis and Thassos appropriately addressed Patriarch Bartholomew, thanking him for the visit.

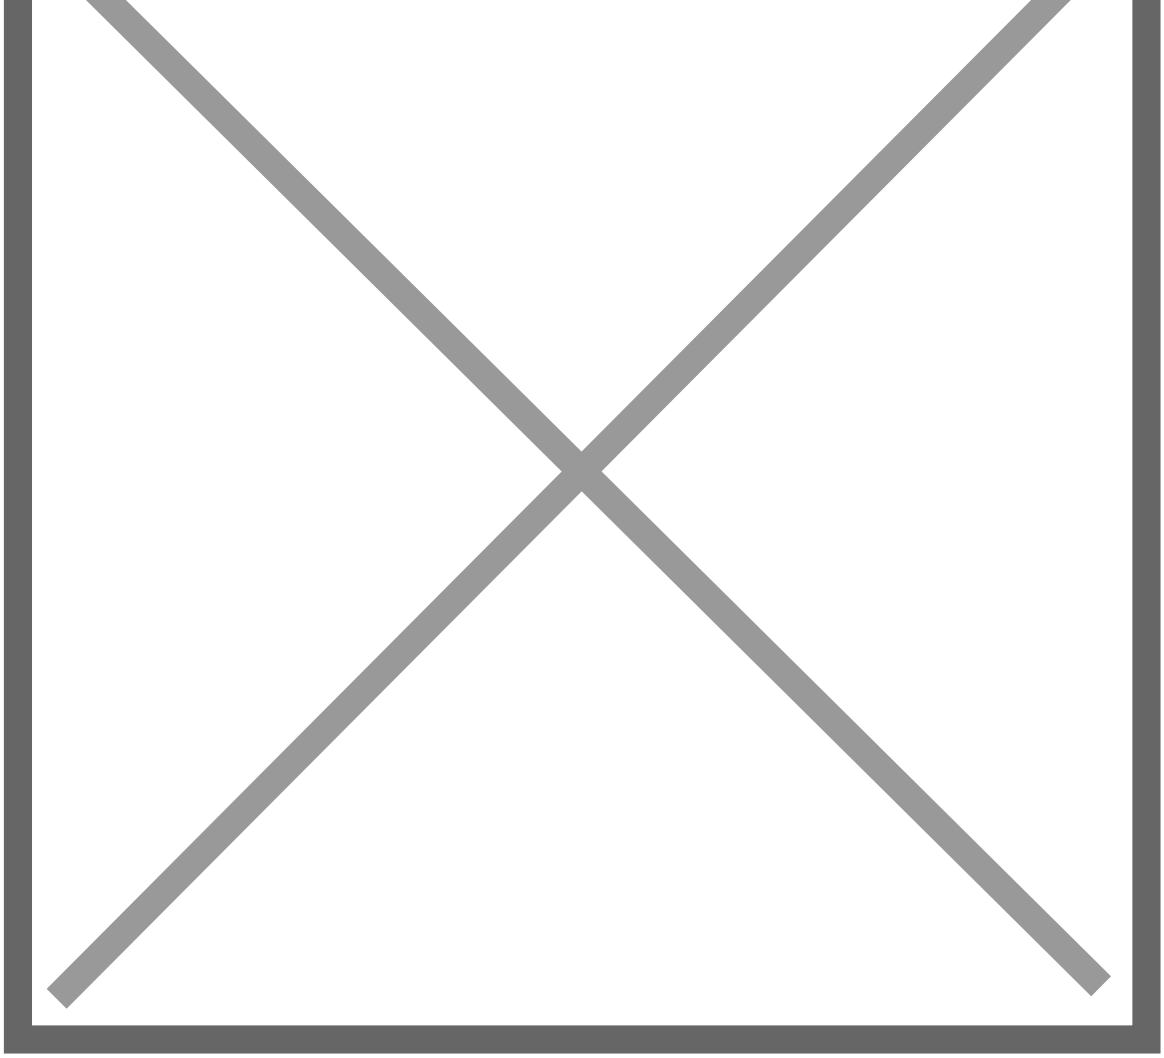

His Eminence the Metropolitan of Xanthi, Panteleimon, who served as a monk at the monastery, spoke about its history, about the Church building and its paintings.

Afterwards, Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, Metropolitan Epiphanios and their entourage went to Limenaria, in the south of the island of Thassos, where a festive ceremony took place for the naming of a street in honour of the Patriarch.

The Mayor congratulated His Holiness and announced the unanimous decision of the Municipal Council to name one of the streets of the city “Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew Street” in memory of the current visit.
