(Video) An Interview with His Eminence Archbishop Makarios of Australia

Orthodoxy through the Apostles reached all the lengths and breadths of the earth. From the land of Judea, their preaching reached Britain and the island of Ireland, the Middle East and Africa, the depths of Asia and the “new world”, the continent of America. However, Orthodoxy also reached remote Australia, which since the beginning of the 20th century has been an Archdiocese under the Ecumenical Patriarchate.

How does the Gospel message survive on the other side of the world? What issues might a Hierarch in Australia face? What role does the Greek minority play in church matters? His Eminence Archbishop Makarios of Australia answers all these issues, on the programme Ad Hoc of the Απαρχή channel:
